REPORT OF SCHOOL BOARD.

TO THE INHABITANTS OF THE TOWN OF EATON :

In presenting this report, we should be glad to be able to truthfully state, that education in this town is "booming." We are not, however, able to make such a statement, but have to present things as we find them, which we are satisfied is what you require, be it pleasing or otherwise.

The first thing to demand the attention of the School Board at the beginning of the year was to provide new reading matter for the schools of the district. With this end in view we examined many readers of different publishers, all good books, and finally accepted and introduced Swintons. These books are fully equal and in some respects superior to any others examined, especially is this the case with the book in the Fourth grade. This grade is more generally used in this town than any other of the series. It abounds with new, interesting and instructive matter and is even larger than the Fifth grade of the old readers, and profitably take the place of the old Fourth and Fifth.

We found that this change was not made any too soon, for the old books taken in exchange were for the most part nearly worthless as school readers. While there were a few very good ones, there were many without covers, others out of the binding and the rest completely demoralized.

So far, the new books have proved satisfactory to the school board, to parents, and to scholars who have attended school, have made marked progress in reading during the past year. These readers have been placed with Messrs. Robertson and Snow, where they can be bought for cash, at introduction prices.

We have spared no pains to procure efficient teachers for the various schools, and have been very successful, only two or three of the fourteen different terms have failed to come up to our expectations. Taken all together they have been, we believe, fully equal to those of preceeding years, yet the general improvement has not been very satisfactory. Why is this? We answer, that the general attendance of scholars in the various schools has not ranked high. We refer you to the appended statistical table, where you will notice that the whole number of scholars registered for the year was 145, the average attendance for the year, was 91, the number of scholars with perfect attendance for the year, was 3.

We feel it our duty to say that these figures are unsatisfactory. They show that of the whole number of scholars who pretended to go to school, 37 per cent., or more than one-third were constantly absent. This absence we find from the registers, to be principally a general irregularity of attendance. Can any intelligent person expect rapid advancement on this basis? We may hire the best teachers possible, yet if this condition prevails the schools may be well nigh a failure from this cause alone.

Is it reasonable to suppose that the voters of this town, and there are many who do not have scholars, will continue to raise money so liberally for education as they always have in the past, when those, who do have scholars, neglect for one reason or another, to send them to school?

We suggest, that all parents supply their scholars with suitable books, see that every one is at school the first day, the last day, and every intervening day, sickness excepted, and then if the improvement is unsatisfactory, you will know pretty well where to place the blame.

When the new school law came into effect, it was thought to be an excellent plan to alternate the fall terms of the first and tenth schools, so that scholars might attend from one to the other. This idea has been carried out and to do this, it has been necessary to employ teachers competent to manage full seating capacity of each house. Let us see how this plan has worked the past year. We find that there were four scholars from the tenth who attended the first, the whole attendance being equal to two and one-third scholars for the term. There were twelve from the first who attended the tenth the whole attendance being equivalent to three scholars for the term. The question naturally arises, whether it is profitable to pay the extra expense of these schools on the basis of this attendance the past year.

We recommend that the town purchase all school books and supply the scholars with such books as they need, free of charge. We urge upon the district the importance of putting the school-houses in decent condition for the schools. We have three very good houses that need little or no repairing. The tenth is a very good house but needs repairs inside. The fourth and ninth are not in good condition and are unsuitable for any cold weather. The fifth is wholly unfit to put scholars into even in summer. The former district thought best not to repair it in its present location, but preferred to use it as long as it was suitable for summer schools, and then build a new one on a suitable location. The time has already passed when this should have been done. A better house and location is imperatively demanded, if there is to be a school there.

The foregoing is respectfully submitted with Financial Statement and Statistical Table.
